ONE
HULL

Creating a better City

Hull Children's Trust

Hull: The family friendly city
where no child is left behind

Our new Children and Young People's Plan has a strong family friendly focus. It shows services working together.

"Children and young people in Hull should have a healthy lifestyle, grow up in a loving and safe home and be safe from harm. They should enjoy and have fun in their childhood and teenage years, be able to take part in a variety of activities (like sport, music, drama) near to their home and have the chance to be able to do their best and succeed.

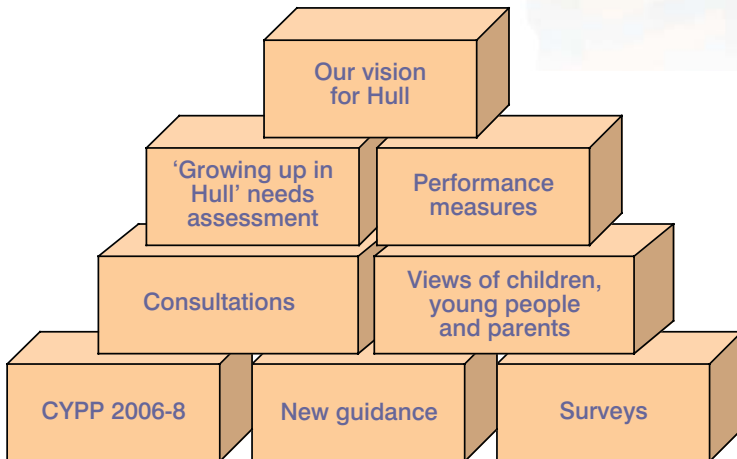

"They should play a part in their city and have their ideas and views heard and taken seriously, helping decide and plan what they need. They should enjoy living in a city which welcomes and treats all people fairly and equally and does not tolerate any form of discrimination. They should be able to get excellent help and support when they need it and know that we are all working together to make sure that no child is left behind."

Building our new Plan

When we wanted to create our new Children and Young People's Plan we:

- looked at what we already knew about children, young people and families in Hull
- went looking for new information about what was needed in the city (needs assessment)
- read the new guidance from the government
- talked to lots of people, including professionals, volunteers, children, young people and families
- did surveys and questionnaires
- put together 'first drafts' of the plan and put them on our website and sent them out for people to read
- finished and published our plan once it was agreed by the Hull Children's Trust Board on 20th April 2010

Our plan in a nutshell

- one vision
- six outcomes
- 12 strategic priorities
- three strategic challenges

For

- 62,000 children and young people aged 0-19

It includes a priority for family poverty, not just child poverty.

We have introduced the 'If just 100 children lived in Hull ...' page to provide a readily understood summary of some basic facts about our children and young people (see page 7).

We have split the Children and Young People's Plan into two sections:

- i. setting the scene - Our Strategic Plan
- ii. making it happen - Our Delivery Plan

This should make the Plan more accessible and useful.

We have made very clear the link between the Children and Young People's Plan and the Commissioning and Workforce Strategies. We have also included a brief summary of each in the Plan.

Our six outcomes and 12 priorities

Children and young people:

Growing up Learning

- ... get the best possible start in life
- ... enjoy learning and achieve their potential

Growing up Safely

- ... live in safe and supportive families
- ... who are vulnerable achieve the best possible outcome

Growing up Healthy

- ... and their parents make healthy choices
- ... grow up happy and positive about themselves
- ... with additional health needs get the support that they need

Growing up Enjoying Life

- ... have fun and enjoy life

Growing up Contributing

- ... have a say in their lives, their communities and their city
- ... are protected from bullying, anti-social behaviour and crime

Growing up Independent

- ... grow up in families free from the effects of poverty
- ... get the best possible start in adult life

Our top three Strategic Challenges:

We are focusing our efforts across our Children's Trust partnerships to tackle three issues of particular importance for our children, young people and families.

Improving attainment, achievement and employability

What are we doing about it?

- Better childcare, more children's centres, improving primary schools
- Eight Hull Challenge Pledges (secondary schools)
- Building Schools for the Future

Reducing health inequalities

What are we doing about it?

- Stopping smoking
- Healthier weight (reducing obesity)
- Reducing teenage conceptions

Keeping children safe and families supported

- Reducing accidents (at home and on the roads)
- Safeguarding children is everyone's business
- Improving family support, creating a family friendly city

And much, much more ...

If just 100 children lived in Hull...
